LORD MCCOLL

Welcomes Guidance on National Commissioning of Specialised Services for People of All Ages with Limb Loss

Lord McColl says: "I welcome the proactive and innovative initiative to bring together key stakeholders to produce the publication entitled 'Commissioning for Patients: Guidance on National Commissioning of Specialised Services for People of All Ages with Limb Loss'."

"The sharing of this wealth of knowledge, skills and experience in rehabilitation and re-ablement service provision should improve patient outcomes, independence and independent living, and I welcome their belief that, given the necessary resources and the benefits of national specialised commissioning, they will together further enhance and extend patient choice and high standards already achieved."
